Newcastle pilot Scott Barrett crosses three states to smash world hang gliding record and he took off from Boort.

Simon Eicher was part of the support team.

Travelling 570 kilometres in one day is a good effort for anyone, but to do it powered purely by the elements is a world record.

Newcastle pilot Scott Barrett smashed the previous record held for distance-to-goal hang gliding by more than 190 kilometres.

It is the result of plenty of hard work and planning, plus some favourable conditions.

"To get a record it means you have to get things right. I've been watching the weather, especially in the early part of December, because it's a race against the sun," Mr Barrett said.

"I saw a weather window that looked quite good, so I drove from Newcastle to Boort, stayed overnight at the airstrip and the next day set up my glider and then went for the record. It was a very well-planned exercise to break the record."

The aerial journey saw him take off from the Victorian town of Boort, soar across New South Wales and set down in South Australia.

The remote sheep station of Mooleulooloo where Mr Barrett landed was chosen because it has one of the last airstrips in the region that still has road access.

Having a hang glider silently arrive on his property came as a bit of a surprise to station owner Brian Treloar.

"When he knocked on the door, I thought he was a roo shooter, but he didn't look like a roo shooter. If I had of known he was coming I would have been worried about him," Mr Treloar said.

The Treloar family and the Barrett family in Mooleulooloo after the world record.

After nine hours and twenty minutes in the air, Mr Barrett was met on the ground by his wife and young daughter who had been tracking him via GPS and in contact via radio.

As a take-off point, Boort is not famous for its mountains, so the record attempt required a little help to actually get into the air.

"We start off with a tow behind a micro-light aircraft, and then we release from the rope and start gliding from there. The gliding is done by finding some rising air and then gliding to find the next rising air."

It is the same principle that allows birds to fly for long distances without having to flap their wings; in fact it is not uncommon for hang gliders to share the airspace with eagles as man and bird both make use of thermals.

The conditions in the area also played a part in the record-breaking effort.

"Victoria is special because the further south you get, the more early morning clouds you get indicating where the lift is. Boort in particular has a very good road network," Mr Barrett said.

After nine hours and twenty minutes in the air, Mr Barrett was met on the ground by his wife and young daughter who had been tracking him via GPS and in contact via radio.

Breaking world hang gliding records and spending almost 10 hours in the air is just one aspect of hang gliding, and Mr Barrett said there were plenty of ways to take to the air and have adventures.

"It's like a 3D yacht race and the views are better by far. There are wonderful adventures to be had. Hang gliders have become a very safe and fun aircraft, it takes a week to achieve a pilot certificate and you can participate in it from flatlands, from mountains, coastal hills or sand dunes, it is all great fun."

After such a huge effort and distance, Mr Barrett is looking forward to some more local airtime.

"The next flying for me will be at home on the coast, in bare feet, shorts and T-shirt, enjoying a day flying around on the sand dunes at our local beach. I love making flights from the local mountains and flying over Lake Macquarie to my home, packing up on my own front lawn."

PRE-SEASON KICK OFF FOR MAGPIES

The Boort Football Club kicked off its 2015 season with an early morning training session on Sunday 18th January, under new coach, Sam Taylor. In what were not very typical conditions, the heat was off as players tried to regain touch and pick up some fitness throughout the session.

Training will now continue on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 pm at Boort Park and we urge all interested players to come along and work hard towards improving their fitness and skills for the season ahead. The season kicks off with a home game against Birchip-Watchem on April 11th, the week after Easter. In the next few weeks the club will be arranging practice matches for the two weekends at the end of March.

The committee are working hard on finding players, organising membership and silver circle tickets, and developing a sponsorship structure. Please look out for how you can support your club with these!

The next few months will also see the club look to volunteers to do the many jobs that need doing to get a Saturday of football, netball and hockey up and running. Becoming a trainer, helping with merchandise, running / helping at the gate, working in the canteen, umpiring, helping with the social committee and helping to attract players to the club are some of the areas that people can help with. Please see a committee member to see how you can help out!

BOORT GOLF CLUB

Golf Victoria is pleased to announce an exciting partnership with Boort Golf Club that will give women the opportunity to participate in a string of beginner golf clinics designed for new entrants or women wishing to return to the game.

Commencing on Tuesday 3rd March 2015, the cost is just $25 for the entire five week level one course that will assist in helping participants develop the fundamental skills of playing golf and equip them with the confidence to enjoy their time on course.

Mark Bamford, Regional Development Officer at Golf Victoria is encouraging all women in the area who are looking to start a new sport to trial golf via this course and believes there will be more opportunities in different areas over the coming months. Mark Bamford and key members of the Boort Golf Club will be conducting the clinics.

“The Play Golf Women’s program is the ideal way for beginners to get involved in golf. Like many other sports, starting off can feel quite daunting but these five weeks of clinics are specifically designed to make participants feel as comfortable as possible and teach them the basics of the game in a non-competitive environment.

Recently Golf Victoria also partnered with the Royal Women’s Hospital to develop an understanding of the health benefits attributed to a healthy life style and in particular participation in golf. A booklet outlining these benefits has been published and will be made available to all who enquire.

“Our intention is to get plenty more of these Play Golf Women’s Clinics up and running throughout regional Victoria over the coming months. The more of these clinics we have, the more opportunity we give to those who want to take up the great sport of golf,” said Bamford.

“Twilight Music & Market by the Lake”

The inaugural “Twilight Music and Market by the Lake” was held recently on Saturday 10th January. The event was a great success, especially considering the last minute relocation to Boort Park due to the weather. We were thrilled to welcome 300 adults, plus children, to the event and a great night was enjoyed by all.

There was a fantastic range of local produce and goods which certainly showcased how much our great town has to offer. There were 21 stallholders with a range of fresh produce, homemade sweets and preserves, clothes and shoes, handmade leather and timber, jewellery, candles and more. There was a great range of food on offer for tea including barbeque, lamb ribs, baked potatoes, stir fry and ice-cream.

The fabulous music was provided by the talented Smith Bros Band. Craig Smith, formerly of Boort, along with John Lanyon on the saxophone and Mel, lead vocals, oozed class as the Melbourne based jazz band set the scene with a relaxed and enjoyable atmosphere.

We would like to thank all the stallholders and committee members for their hard work, particularly with the relocation of the event at the last minute. A huge thank you to all our Boort locals and the many visitors who supported the event – your attendance made our event a great success. Planning is already underway for next year’s “Twilight Music & Market by the Lake”.

Have your say through Public Transport Survey

Have your say on improved passenger rail services for Loddon Released on 14 January 2015 Loddon Shire Council has joined forces with the northern municipalities of Swan Hill, Gannawarra, Campaspe and Greater Bendigo to progress one of its key advocacy priorities - improved passenger rail services. Loddon Mayor, Cr Gavan Holt, said stage one of the joint 'Railing Ahead' advocacy strategy will kick off in January with a community survey designed to gather information on local public transport usage and what type of train service people need. "Public transport is an important service to all rural communities, connecting people with the services they need and contributing to quality of life. However, we hold a concern that the current level of passenger rail services in northern Victoria does not adequately meet the needs of locals or visitors to the region," Cr Holt said. "As a case in point, the Swan Hill train line currently has only two return train services per day and the Echuca line has only one service each week day and two on weekends. By comparison, smaller communities on the Melbourne-Bendigo rail line benefit from up to 20 return train services per day." The Mayor said that improving passenger rail services for those who live, do business or visit northern Victoria is vitally important to the region for a wide range of social and economic reasons. "Some of the expected benefits of improving the frequency of passenger trains include expanding employment and education opportunities, improving access to general and specialist medical services, increasing participation in recreation and social activities, and increasing tourism to the region."

For Loddon, the aim of the advocacy strategy is to achieve an increase in the frequency of passenger services to the key destinations of Dingee and Pyramid Hill, both of which already have train stations. Stage one of the Railing Ahead advocacy strategy will involve a three-pronged approach including engaging the community to gather information, continuing discussions with Public Transport Victoria (PTV) and raising community awareness. "As part of preparing a business case that could support government investment in enhanced rural rail services, it is important to have meaningful data and a solid understanding of public transport usage and needs in the region," Cr Holt said. "To achieve this understanding, a survey will be widely distributed throughout the local government areas of Swan Hill, Gannawarra, Loddon, Campaspe and Greater Bendigo, with a specific focus on the Swan Hill and Echuca lines. "We encourage all members of the community to complete the survey so that the views of students, workers, families, business people, tourists and those who rely on public transport to get around, can be represented accurately to government decision-makers." We will present the findings of the survey to PTV and the Victorian Government in an effort to secure train and bus services that better align to community and visitor needs." The survey will examine existing passenger rail patronage levels, destination and purpose of travel, levels of satisfaction with current services and likely demand for more frequent services.

The Railing Ahead community survey is open from Monday, 12 January until Friday, 27 February 2015. It is available on Council's website www.loddon.vic.gov.au and in hard copy from Council's customer service centres in Wedderburn, Serpentine and BRIC. In addition to the survey, the partner councils will target input from specific individuals and groups including tourism bodies, health providers, the business sector and regular train users. "While improved rail services has long been an advocacy priority of Council, the gathering of data over coming months provides an opportunity to initiate discussions with the new Victorian Government regarding the region's public transport issues and needs," the Mayor added - See more at: <http://www.loddon.vic.gov.au/Our-documents/News-and-announcements/Have-your-say-on-improved-passenger-rail-services-for-Loddon#sthash.2QsYxNM1.dpuf>
